Seen & Heard Around Murray

Nice fellow met over the weekend, Ken Stevens. Moved here recently on his retirement.

Says he was looking for something to do, so he just calls the local Mental Health Center to see if they needed someone to do things around the place. He had noted they had just moved into new headquarters.

Yeah, they says, come on down. So he did. It ended up with Ken painting the place, fixing some bookshelves, and doing other odds and ends to make things shipshape and more convenient.

This just goes to show you that there is no use of a person sitting around doing nothing. Ken helped the Mental Health Center out a lot and at the same time got some personal satisfaction out of it.

We have several agencies here in Murray that can use manpower, the Red Cross, the Mental Health Center, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, just to name a few.

Hats off to Tony McClure a young fellow from Calvert City who lost both legs in Viet Nam. Does he sit around feeling sorry for his lot? Not by any means. He is up an at 'em every day with an outlook

BY GLENN CARPENTER

FRANKFORT, Ky. UPI—House Minority Leader Harold DeMarcus of Stanford proposed today that the taxing power of local school boards in Kentucky be abolished and the authority to provide equal educational opportunity in the state be delegated to the legislature.

DeMarcus' view, related in an interview, and opinions by many other lawmakers are bearing more toward centralized control because of the burgeoning problems of the educational ship of state. Many feel it is off course because of inaction of the local level and the only way to steer it correctly is by a firm legislative hand.

At the crux of the problem, monetarily speaking, is the refusal of the major of school boards to pass additional taxes to ease the financial crisis. Thus, legislators are receiving most of the guff as evidenced by last winter's teacher strike.

"The local taxing power of the school boards should be taken away from them and put in the hands of the legislature," the Lincoln County Republican said. "The local school districts have the primary responsibility to

Seek To Avert Educational Crisis With School Study

FRANKFORT, KY. UPI—The General Assembly will be moving on two fronts during the next 16 months to attempt to avert the educational crisis in 1972 which befell the lawmakers during last winter's session.

In action last week, the leadership of the legislature during the interim period-The Legislative Research Commission-okayed a proposal to conduct a study of the educational needs of private and public primary and secondary schools of the Commonwealth. The study is expected to project the needs for a 10 year period.

Also underway is a study of higher education needs by the Council on Public Higher Education. It will report to a special nine-member legislative commission created by the 1970 General Assembly.

At the heart of both efforts is the concern of lawmakers of both parties that, if there is a way to prevent the consternation of the winter session, they want to find it.

They do not want teachers descending on them every two

YOU AND THE DRAFT

BY
COLONEL TAYLOR L. DAVIDSON

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The American author James Russell Lowell wrote, "What is so rare as a day in June." To paraphrase, what is so rare as the Selective Service System receiving a letter praising the efficiency and humanism demonstrated by a "draft" board clerk in the performance of his official duties.

Recently our office received a letter from a registrant commending on a diploma denoting graduation from the Kentucky
Selective Service Basic Training School. Since training of our personnel is one of the most important phases of our operation, the Kentucky Selective Service System is pleased to receive correspondence of that type.

In 1968, this Headquarters established a Basic Training School for new employees. The school provides 40 hours of intensive classroom instruction.
Graduates of the school now number 59.

Another requirement is for all employees to complete a correspondence course on the "Background and Philosophy of the Selective Service System."

The humanism demonstrated by our employees is promoted by ten basic commandments for good public relations with registrants. The registrant is the most important person in our work; he is not a cold statistic—he is a flesh and blood human being with emotions like our own.
At all times we endeavor to give him courteous and attentive treatment. Service is the Selective Service System's middle name.

In a recent time study covering one month, employees gave 1284 hours of extra service without pay.

The answers often given to the questions asked by registrants are not always the type they would like to receive. However, we are hopeful that there will never be any evidence of unkindness shown to any person having official business with any local board in Kentucky.

Springfield Works Smoothly To Move Into Third World Series

Two beautifully executed hit-and-run plays in the sixth inning have propelled a big, poised team of Springfield, Ill., all-stars into their third consecutive Colt League World Series, play in which starts tomorrow at Lafayette, Ind.

The Illinoisans, managed by former Houston pitcher Mickey Madison, came up with the plays to break up a 2-2 pitchers' duel and beat the suburban Q team from the Chicago area in the final game of the North Colt Division Baseball Tournament Saturday night at the Murray City Park.

Springfield used only three pitchers in sweeping through the Murray tournament undefeated. Jim Kopatz, a 6' 4", 185-pounder, furling the opening game Thursday night, defeating the Murray all-stars 3-1 with a four-hit pitching performance.

Bill Kinzel, a .333 hitter with the Elks team at Springfield during the season and who also plays third base, took over the mound Friday night in the second game to pitch a three-hitter and beat the Suburban Q team the first time 3-1.

Hurling for the winners in the championship game was Paul Murray, a six-foot lefthander, who scattered seven hits and held the Chicagoans scoreless after a two-run, second inning outburst.

The Springfield manager described his team's play as beautiful, but had praise for the Suburban Q pitcher, Bob Walker, also a left-hander. "He did one heck of a job," Madison said. "We have good hitters and he was getting them out," eight of whom went down swinging.

The Springfield team jumped out in front in the top of the first of the final game when Kopatz, playing third base, reached first on an error and scored on successive singles by second baseman Bob Zanot and first baseman Fred Wietes.

Suburban Q, which was made up of all-stars from six Chicago suburbs, took over in the second with two runs.

Charles Schueneman, the catcher and who scored the game-winning run over Murray in the closing moments of Friday night's three-game marathon, was safe at first on an error.

Right fielder Paul Profit then singled Schueneman to third and the first baseman, Pat Haws, brought him home with a sacrifice fly, Profit moving to second.

Third baseman Greg Morton next lashed a single into left center to score Profit with the Chicagoans' second and final run.

Springfield came back in the top of the third to knot the score when Profit bobbled Dennis Hendricks' fly ball. Kopatz followed with a sharp single sending Hendricks to third, from which Wietes sacrificed him home.

Then came the top of the sixth. After the cool, smooth-working Walker had struck out Wietes and right fielder Todd Manning, the center fielder, Larry Newquist, singled into left field.

Moments later, he broke for second as the shortstop, Bob Babiak, dropped a bloop at a second-base, vacated as Russell Holpuch, playing the position for Chicago, broke to cover the base, expecting a throw from the plate.

After the dust had cleared, Newquist had gone to third and Babiak was calmly chewing his gum at first.

Madison again singled for a second-base steal, and again Holpuch broke to cover the bag as Babiak streaked down the baseline, and catcher Mark Oaks drove a sharp grounder across the vacated position into right to score Newquist from third with what proved to be the winning run.

In other games in the four-team tournament, Suburban Q jumped on Aurora, Colo., 11-0 in the Thursday night opener before losing to Springfield Friday for the first time.

The same team came back with a five-run uprising in the bottom of the seventh inning in the final game of Friday night's triple-header to edge the host Murray team, 10-9.

Morehead Coach Cries Blues Early

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Fall football practice hasn't even started and Morehead State University Head Coach Jake Hallum already has lost four players who had been expected to return.

"I hope this isn't an indication of our luck this season," said the 32-year-old Eagle mentor. "We're counting on the rest of our kids to show up as scheduled Wednesday night."

The four players announced as leaving the squad recently include defensive tackles Mike Reiners and Dave Delabar, running back Cliff Edwards and offensive guard Dennis Becker.

None were lettermen but all were impressive in spring practice. Delabar and Edwards had been slowed by knee injuries but were recovering after surgery.

Hallum said he didn't know if any of the former players would return to school later this month when the fall semester starts.

He has about 90 prospective gridders, due to report Wednesday for the opening of practice. The squad's annual press day is Thursday and the sweat starts Friday.

The Eagles lose most of their twice-daily workouts this year because of the university's new academic calendar which advanced the fall semester almost a month.

"We'll have to work longer and harder to make up for those lost sessions," Hallum added.

The Eagles open the season for Hallum's third campaign on Sept. 19 at Marshall. The Thundering Herd features one of the nation's top quarterbacks in junior Ted Shoebridge.

The time score of the final game Saturday night follows:

Springfield 1010000—382

Suburban Q 0200000—273

Murray and Oaks; Walker and Schueneman.

NETS STARS SIGN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lou Carnesecca, general manager and coach of the New York Nets, announced Friday that 6-foot-9 Ed Johnson and 6-foot-8 Sonny Dove have signed 1970-71 contracts.

Johnson was New York's leading rebounder last season, averaging 11.9 a game. Dove, former St. John's star, averaged 14.4 points per game.

FAR EAST BOXING

MANILA (UPI)—Rene Barrientos won the Oriental Junior Lightweight crown by slashing open a deep cut on the right eye of Thailand's Saleman Ithi-Anuchit in the fifth round Friday night and flooring his opponent in the seventh enroute to an eight-round technical knockout.

FOOTBALL SELLOUT

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Browns announced Friday that the Sept. 5 exhibition doubleheader here between the St. Louis Cardinals and the San Diego Chargers followed by the Browns-Minnesota Vikings match is a complete sellout.

Last year's doubleheader attracted 85,532, the largest crowd in the history of Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

SINGER HURT AGAIN

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Ailing Los Angeles Dodger ace Bill Singer, who pitched a no-hitter earlier this year against the Philadelphia Phillies, was placed on the disabled list Friday for the second time this season after suffering a fractured right index finger Wednesday night in Pittsburgh.

Sandy Vance, who was Singer's replacement when he went on the disabled list the first time with hepatitis, was called up from the Dodgers' Spokane farm club of the Pacific Coast League.

HORSE SYNDICATED

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI)—Northern Dancer, winner in 1964 of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, and one of America's most popular stallions was syndicated Wednesday at a value of $2,400,000.

Georgia Tech Black QB Is South First

By DAVID MOFFITT

UPI Sports Writer

ATLANTA (UPI)—Eddie McAshan, expected to be the first black athlete to start at quarterback for a Deep South major college football team, is being counted on by Georgia Tech to save it from a fourth straight losing season.

This puts double pressure on the lanky sophomore from Gainesville, Fla., but coach Bud Carson, whose own job may well depend on McAshan's success, feels his untested quarterback is equal to the task.

"I don't think the pressure on the buildup is going to bother Eddie," Carson says. "He is a very calm individual, a real asset to us. I just don't think all of this is going to bother him."

Carson had similar hopes last year for one Charles Dudish who quit school last winter after a controversial, injury-plagued sophomore season.

But this is another year. Carson has convinced himself that the problems of the past three seasons have mainly been solved, that 1970 is the year of revival for Georgia Tech football.

"We're going to be better," says Carson. "We're going to be a good football team. I feel like we're organized and over the hump."

"We've got more football players now. We are in the position that time and a lot of work has been leading us toward."

While hoping the offense will be improved, Carson glows when talking about his defensive unit which has every starter returning.

Georgia Tech is pushing 240-pound defensive tackle Rock Perdoni and defensive back Jeff Ford for all - America and is high on 240 - pound defensive end Brad Bourne, who was injured most of last season, and defensive back Bubba Hoats.

"Our defense won't back away from anyone," says Carson. "It's loaded with proven performers and should be quite efficient. The pros are going to have to find a place for Perdoni and Ford as good as anyone I've coached."

"This defensive group is the best since I've been at Tech (five years)," Carson adds.

McAshan is only one of a half dozen sophomores who loom large in Georgia Tech's offensive plans. Rob Healy, son of a former Georgia Tech All-American and brother of Vanderbilt's former All - Southeastern Conference linebacker Chip Healy, is slated to start at tailback and two sophomores, Wes Sherill and Mike Oven are battling for the split end slot.

"Healy has a lot of speed and toughness," says Carson. "He is going to be a fine football player, one who can run inside and outside."

To make room for Healy, Carson switched junior Brent Cunningham, an exciting broken field runner, to flanker. "We know Brent is going to be dangerous out there, if we can get the football to him."

Georgia Tech's chief weakness appears to be its interior offensive line. Although both starting tackles and all of the centers return, Carson rates this group as only "fair" but hopes that experience and additional depth will make a difference.

Tech, 4 - 6 in each of the past three seasons, plays 11 games this fall and there are some tough stops along the way — mainly Tennessee, Auburn and Notre Dame. However, the Yellow Jackets play six of their first seven games at home and this should help them get off to a good start.

Carson is worried about Tech's punting and, at last report, was seeking to bring in a junior college graduate from California who averaged over 40 yards last season.

"Our season is riding on how much our offense improves," Carson says. "If we are to have a winning season, we've got to develop more scoring punch than we've had in the past few years."

"McAshan and Healy are our keys, especially McAshan. As you know, we've been plagued by injuries to our quarterbacks in the past. If we lose McAshan, we may be in trouble again."

The Best In

Drag Racing To

Try Their Luck

BRISTOL, Tenn.—There are two chances—slim and none—that anyone can beat the likes of Sox & Martin, Gene Snow and Bob Creitz during the annual American Hot Rod Association-sanctioned World Championships at Bristol International Dragway August 28-29-30. But the best in drag racing the world over will be in "Thunder Valley" to try.

Sox & Martin are the class of the Super Stockers, Snow is "Mr. Big" in the Funny Car class and Creitz is running ahead of such top throttle-thumpers as John Wiebe, King & Marshall, and Heraldo Don (Big, Daddy).

Garlits in the top Fuel classification.

While these men set the pace among AHRA's Grand American professionals, there are plenty of other big names and hordes—about 600 to be exact—of cars headed for the Drag City site.

Jim Tice, president of AHRA, calls the Bristol strip the world's most beautiful and always lavishes praise on the facilities at every opportunity. "It's simply a beautiful strip," he insists, "and the drivers and fans love it. The Sunday crowds for the last two Springnationals were the largest I have ever seen in drag racing (both swelled over 50,000) and I expect a tremendous throng for this meet."

One of the reasons for the excitement is the fact that the Bristol meet is the ninth of ten national meets and brings the point races down to the final wire. A lot will be decided such as speed marks, point titles and cash championships.

In addition to the top pros, exhibitionists like jet driver Art Arfons and stunt-pilot Art Scholl will perform. Arfons will attempt to shatter his own quarter-mile land speed record—set the broken here in the past—and Scholl will stage another aerial exhibition.

All indications point to a wild weekend in "Thunder Valley," the only strip in the country to host two national championship events in one year.

Advance tickets are on sale and will be slightly higher at the gate.

best year, 1951, when she won half of the 14 events on the LPGA tour.

"You don't have to be a winner every week to make a good living on our tour these days," said Miss Whitworth, who has won more money ($289,139) than any other woman golfer. "You can do pretty well by just finishing among the leaders."

"Kathy came along when the tour started paying off," said Miss Smith, who has been playing for pay 21 years. "There was a time when you really had to cut corners to make it."

"I just hope I'm still playing five or six years from now when the purses are really up there."

Although Kathy has only one victory so far this year, she's already won more than $20,000—$5,000 more than the Babe's class — including this week's Lady Carling Open being played here in Atlanta, new headquarters of the LPGA since Bud Erickson, former Atlanta Falcons executive, succeeded Lennie Wirtz as tournament director.

That's a far cry from those $100-$250,000 men's tournaments. But Erickson and his ladies feel they may be headed in the right direction since they've lined up a $50,000 event for next spring in Las Vegas — with television yet!

"We've got a lot of bright young faces on the tour now," Miss Smith said. "But, unfortunately, few of our new girls are very well known."

"We desperately need to find a television sponsor," she continued. "I don't think there is any doubt that television would be the answer to our problem. We had a chance for coverage of a mixed tournament — a dozen of our girls and a dozen of the men — but the PGA refused to go along with that."

"The men haven't been very helpful. They don't need us so they've been unwilling to lend us a hand."

"We've come a long way on our own," said this week's defending champion, Kathy Whitworth, who at last report was stranded in Corpus Christi, Tex., by Hurricane Celia.

"It wasn't too many years ago that you had only a half dozen or so of the girls to worry about. Now we've got 25 out there each week with a chance to win. It's great for the LPGA — but it doesn't give you a chance to relax."

Most of this year's LPGA purses are in the $20 - $30,000

Williams' Bat Sparks Cubs

By NEIL HERSHBERG

UPI Sports Writer
Billy Williams, playing in his 1,103rd consecutive game for third place on the all-time list, sparked two uprisings with a double and a single Sunday to lift the Chicago Cubs to a 5-2 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

In his 10th year of major league baseball, Williams, the National League's Rookie of the Year in 1961, is enjoying his best season ever. He already has hit 34 homers to match his previous high set in 1965. With a .313 batting average and 106 RBIs also as part of his credentials, Williams now adds another niche to his "iron man" image—that of a superstar.

Together with his 105 runs scored, second only to Bobby Bonds of the San Francisco Giants, he has become the complete ball player.

Dodger starter and loser Claude Osteen, who gave up one single in the first three innings, got a bad break when Williams' high fly to center field eluded Willie Davis and fell for a double. Williams took third as Jim Hickman grounded out but Osteen walked Ron Santo on four straight pitches. Randy Hundley lined a single scoring Williams and Johnny Callison singled to center scoring Santo with the tying run.

Dear Abby

Match fiance 'joke for joke'

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am going to marry a real great guy. I suspected there was something wrong with one of his eyes, but he never talked about it, so I never really knew what it was.

Well, a little while ago he told me that when he was a small boy a neighbor kid accidentally shot it out with a B. B. gun and he had an artificial eye put in. Abby, it looks so real, nobody would ever know it was artificial. Now that he has told me, it seems to have built his courage up, and he takes his eye out in the evening and wears an eye patch. I think the artificial eye looks better than the eye patch, but the whole thing gives me the creeps.

One night he had a few drinks and he took his artificial eye out in front of some strangers and a lady fainted.

Do you think after we're married I will get more used to this? I'd like to tell him how I feel. SQUEAMISH IN N. Y.

DEAR SQUEAMISH: Yes, you'll probably get more used to it, but tell him anyway. And since your fiance is such a great comedian, find out if he can take it as well as dish it out.

Get a set of phony dentures, and the next time he removes his eye, you remove your "dentures." [Sort of an "eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" arrangement.]

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who is too good for his own good. Everybody takes advantage of "Good Old Hank." Especially his family. They have used him all his life. They borrow a few dollars from him and forget to pay it back. When they need some work done—for free—Hank is the first one they call, and he goes running like it's an honor to do them a favor.

What is worse, we have a married son who is the same kind of a sap. Only it's his wife's family who runs him. He is always helping her father, or uncles, or brothers, also for free. Fix this, haul that, or build something. Junior never complains, either. He's crazy. Just like his father.

I worry one day that these big-hearted boobs will drop dead in their tracks from overwork. I wish I knew a way to help them see the light. LOTS OF PROBLEMS

DEAR ABBY: I have some good news for you. You don't have any problems. Those big-hearted "boobs" might enjoy doing things for their relatives. And quit worrying. More people have dropped dead from worry than from work.

DEAR ABBY: I, too, am the wife of an airline pilot, and I used to worry myself sick wondering what my captain might be doing with some cute young airline hostess, until one night a highly respected, much-admired professional man knocked on my door while my pilot was gone. He certainly had some swinging plans for us. And to think how for years I had envied this man's wife because she had an 8 to 5 husband!

That's all there is to my story, Abby. But the point is this: Occupation doesn't determine fidelity—or the lack of it—in a marriage. I know airline captains' wives who have more going for them while their husbands are away than their husbands have. COFFEE, TEA AND ME [AT HOME]

CONFIDENTIAL TO "50 YEARS OLD TODAY—AND DEPRESSED": Cheer up. Fifty is the "old age" of youth. But is also the "youth" of old age. You have a lot of living to do.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90068. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Envelope purses for fall range from little clutches to huge ones suspended from the shoulder. In between are a dozen other sizes. Some of the handiest envelopes look like huge rectangles instead of being long and lean.

Lovely Bridal Tea Given In Honor Of Mrs. Blalock

Mrs. Donald Blalock, nee Barbara Crouse, was complimented with a lovely tea shower held at the private dining room of the Southside Restaurant, Murray, on Friday, August 7, from three-thirty to five o'clock in the afternoon.

Welcoming the guests at the door was Mrs. Alvis Jones. Mrs. Amos McCarty, Jr., sister of the bride, and Mrs. Shirley McCarty alternated at the register table which was covered with a white linen cloth. An arrangement of roses in an antique rose bowl complimented the table.

Receiving the guests with the recent bride were her mother, Mrs. Laverne Crouse, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Nelson Blalock.

For the bridal occasion the honoree chose to wear her wedding dress and was presented a corsage of pink carnations by the hostesses. Mrs. Crouse wore a white knit dress and Mrs. Blalock was attired in a pink and white knit dress. They were presented white carnation corsages.

The serving table was beautifully appointed with sterling silver and crystal. The table was overlaid with an imported linen cutwork cloth belonging to the groom's mother. A lovely arrangement of summer roses and baby's breath in a silver bowl centered the table. Punch, party cakes, nuts, and mints were served.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Richard Lassiter, Mrs. John Sammons, Sr., Mrs. Alvis Jones, Mrs. Shirley McCarty, Mrs. Amos McCarty, Jr., Mrs. R. C. Stewart, and Mrs. Rudolph Howard.

Other courtesies extended to Mrs. Blalock were a miscellaneous shower at the Normandy Farms, Potomac, Md., and a surprise miscellaneous shower in Lutha Folner and Jeffa Johnson apartment given by Susan Hayden and Judy Jesse.

Miss Judy Brandon Honoree At Shower At Paschall Home

Miss Judy Brandon, September bride-elect of John David Smotherman was honored with a tea shower Saturday August 8, at the home of Mrs. Cecil Paschall. Mrs. Paschall, Miss Beverly Paschall, Mrs. Orvin Hutson, and Mrs. Harold Smotherman were hostesses.

Miss Brandon wore for the occasion a yellow linen dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations tied with yellow ribbon. Her mother, Mrs. James Brandon wore a lime green two piece knit with black patent accessories. Mrs. John Smotherman wore a light blue knit with navy accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

The color scheme of yellow and white was used in the decorations. Guests registered at the desk in the den. The desk held the bride's book and an arrangement of yellow roses in a white milk glass vase.

The dining table was covered with a yellow cloth and white net. It was centered with a lovely artificial arrangement of yellow gladioli and white carnations in a low gold bowl which was later presented to the honoree.

Gifts were displayed on a low table before the fireplace in the living room. The gift table was centered with a bride doll. The mantle held an arrangement of summer flowers in the chosen colors from Mrs. Paschall's garden.

Yellow punch, white cake and mints were served to the twenty-two who attended. Twenty-nine others sent gifts.

Prepare safe drinking water in minutes with a battery-powered electronic water purifier. The new device fits in a shirt or vest pocket or purse. The kit converts a pinch of table salt in a tablespoon of water into a fresh concentrated solution of free chlorine and other powerful bacteria-destroying compounds, the manufacturer says. Each charge is sufficient to rid up to a gallon of water of microbes that cause digestive and intestinal upset and illness.

Mail Movement In Manhattan Gives New Yorkers The Feeling Of A County Fair

By PATRICIA Mc CORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—The great mail movement in Manhattan these summer Saturdays gives New Yorkers a chance to pretend they're at a county fair.

Barring cars and opening up streets to pedestrians has brought out the pamphleteers and hucksters but no apartment and office terraces and roofs so it's just a matter of time before vegetables compete for ribbons.

Sauntering up the middle of Fifth Avenue the other Saturday, it was pleasurable to ignore the walk and don't walk signs flashing dutifully as though people still were confined to sidewalks.

I felt free as birds are supposed to be when a friendly parrot fluttered about me, thinking apparently that my blue and green dress was some kind of bush.

It settled on my shoulder. I stood still but defended myself with that polite but nervous cough one produces in tight situations.

He fluttered again and this time elected to perch on my wrist.

By then a crowd circled the two of us. I kept telling the bird he was a nice bird. Everytime I said it, his grip tightened.

Then this man came up on a bicycle, scolded the parrot and coaxed him back to the handlebars.

"He likes to go bike riding but hates crowds," the man said, taking the bird from my limb.

Street Picnic
Further up the street a circle of squatters hummed as they strummed guitars and waited for their street picnic to finish cooking over canned heat.

At this point I divested myself of a doggie bag of leftovers from my Chinese lunch, thinking the food must have been what attracted the bird.

Those at the cookout in the middle of Fifth Avenue praised my generosity so much, I'm still able to blush about it.

But the best was yet to come. I was trying to classify the happiest among the mall population—children on bicycles, masters running with their dogs, babies in carriages, persons sitting on curbs—when I stumbled.

What I tripped over was a young man sitting cross-legged on the white line and staring at a twing he held upright on the road.

Undoubtedly he got the prize for greatest concentration that day.

"Do you realize," he said, "trees once grew here. Underneath all this stuff piled on by the march of civilization, the ground still has the will to support trees."

"I'm hoping to coax trees into growing again on this spot. Think about it."

Who's to argue? Besides, when I got to a street that had cars moving on it, I saw one go by with a bumper sticker that said:

"Chicken Little was right." I started thinking about that to get my mind off what's

Tips keep purses safe

BOSTON (UPI)—A little common sense can save dollars and cents when it comes to purse "dips," says a veteran Boston police investigator.

Mrs. Josephine Donelan of the Shopping Squad, who has been on the force for 27 years, says the "dips" normally work in pairs—"one opens the bag and the other dips the wallet."

One dip, she explained, will distract or decoy a woman by opening a door with one hand as he unfurls her pocketbook with the other, while the second dip reaches into the purse for the woman's wallet.

Mrs. Donelan, who carries her wallet in a coat pocket of furs these days,

Choose a safe pocketbook, such as one with handles on each side or drawstrings instead of ones with a single clasp.

Try to avoid carrying large amounts of money.

Be wary of standing in a crowd of shoppers. Dip frequently drape an item of merchandise over their arm to conceal the hand slipping into a pocketbook.

Suspect women as well as men.

going to happen when that young man succeeds in getting trees to grow on Fifth Avenue. The sky falling in, after all, has a higher priority when it comes to thinking. Doesn't it?

Lingerie Shower Given In Honor Of Sheila Stallons

Miss Sheila Stallons, bride-elect of David Edward McGinnis, was honored with a surprise lingerie shower held at the lovely home of Mrs. Lila McCuiston at New Concord on Monday, August 3, at seven o'clock in the evening.

The charming hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Bonnie Douglas, Mrs. Anna Margaret Rickett, Mrs. Marsha Smith, Mrs. Lila McCuiston, Miss Anne Thurman, and Miss Cindy Lowe.

For the special event the honoree chose to wear a two piece royal blue slacks suit trimmed in white. The hostesses presented her with a corsage of a yellow daisy.

Mrs. Walton Stallons, mother of the bride-elect, was attired in a lovely pink knit dress. The hostesses presented her with a poem entitled "Her Announcement."

The guests were asked to sign the bride's book by Mrs. Bonnie Douglas. Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Glenda Garner and Mrs. Laura Shelley.

The honoree opened her many lovely gifts from the gift table overlaid with a white linen cloth centered with a pink and white umbrella. She was assisted by Mrs. Marsha Smith and Miss Anne Thurman.

Refreshments of party sandwiches, nuts, mints, and Cokes were served from the lovely appointed table overlaid with a white linen cloth.

Fifteen million acres of farmland have been lost to agriculture during the past 10 years, says the National Live Stock and Meat Board. About 10 million acres were taken from cropland, 3.5 million acres from pastures and rangeland and nearly 11 million from other uses. The board added that the remaining land produces more food than ever before because of the efficiency of today's farm methods.

New York State produces about 20,000 bushels of apples a year.

Miss Barbara Sue Crouse Becomes Bride Of BM2 Donald Nelson Blalock Recently

Miss Barbara Sue Crouse and Boatswainmate Second Class Donald Nelson Blalock were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony on Saturday, August 1, at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Dr. Charles Standridge officiated at the double ring ceremony read in the chapel of the First Baptist Church of Clarendon, Arlington, Va.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Crouse of Murray. BM2 Blalock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Blalock of Murray.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Paul Hall, organist, and Paul Hall, soloist.

Bride's Dress

The bride was lovely in her short formal gown of white crepe and lace. The empire bodice of white lace over satin featured a high neckline with tiny covered buttons and long lace sleeves edged with a lace ruffle at the wrist. A wide pink satin sash encircled her waist. She carried two long stem pink roses tied with pink satin ribbon streamers.

Miss Susan Hayden of Arlington, Va., was the maid of honor. She wore a pink crepe gown fashioned with tuffant sleeves and carried a long stem rose.

Seaman Thomas Wurm of California served as best man for Mr. Blalock.

Reception
Following the ceremony the reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Miss Judy Jesse and Miss Connie Webb assisted in serving.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth and was centered with an arrangement of white carnations flanked on either side by white burning tapers. Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. For traveling the bride wore a yellow linen dress with matching accessories.

The couple will make their home in Norfolk, Va., where BM2 Blalock is presently stationed on the USS Leahy.

Nerve Gas On Way To A Watery Grave

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All legal stumbling blocks removed, a rusty World War II Liberty ship today ferried 67 tons of potentially deadly nerve gas toward a burial in the Atlantic Ocean.

The Lebaron Russell Briggs hoisted anchor Sunday afternoon one hour after the legal opposition to the operation ended.

Two private tugboats hired by the Navy towed the hulk down the Cape Fear River from its dock at Sunny Point, N.C., to the Atlantic. The Navy destroyer USS Hartley Coast Guard cutter Mendota followed as escorts.

The lethal cargo was expected to reach its destination sometime Tuesday morning, after a 600-mile journey to a point in the Atlantic 282 miles off Cape Kennedy, Fla., and north of the Bahamas.

The ocean at that site is 16,000 feet deep and the plant to scuttle 418 tightly sealed coffins of GB nerve gas — one containing a land mine filled with 10.5 pounds of deadlier VX gas — was the main point of the contention in the last legal effort to halt the operation. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said Sunday this operation was the last: "It will not happen again."

The U. S. Court of Appeals met a Supreme Court-imposed noon deadline Sunday and denied an appeal by the Environmental Defense Fund (EDF) for a restraining order against the operation.

But the three-judge appeals court panel also extended restraint on movement of the gas imposed by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger before midnight Saturday. The judges told the government it could not begin its journey until after 10 a.m. EDT Monday in order to give the EDF a chance to appeal their denial to the supreme court.

EDF lawyers, led by Lola F. Lea of New York, decided, however, they had succeeded in calling the Army's gas disposal practices to the attention of the country and would not carry their appeal higher.

The appeals court panel then vacated its delay and the Briggs pulled up anchor one hour later.

Terrorists Kill 35 Persons In Attack On Sunday

By BERT W. OKULEY

SAIGON (UPI) — Terrorists bombing Sunday night and today in Saigon injured at least 35 persons. Officials said it appeared to be the opening of a campaign to coincide with the 25th anniversary of the Communist takeover of North Vietnam.

Battlefield communiques said North Vietnamese troops attacked American reinforcements which had been sent to help South Vietnamese forces trying to crush a Communist buildup along the Laotian border.

The North Vietnamese also bombarded several Allied positions just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), separating the two Vietnams, military spokesmen said.

Police in Saigon said 16 persons were wounded Sunday night in the explosion of a grenade at a house where a banquet was in progress three blocks from the presidential palace.

A plastic explosive device went off early today on a street corner a block from the Sunday night blast. It injured 19 persons.

Police officials said it appeared to be the beginning of a terrorist campaign in Saigon to make the anniversary Wednesday of the rise to power of the late President Ho Chi Minh in Hanoi.

A delayed report from the U.S. Command said today Communist gunners shot down three U.S. helicopters over Laos Saturday, killing one crewman and injuring two others. The helicopters were downed in the lower panhandle west of the South Vietnamese border and brought to 61 the number of U.S. aircraft lost over Laos since the U.S. Command began reporting such losses March 10.

North Vietnamese artillerymen fired more than 85 60mm mortar shells and 15 82mm rounds into fire base Barnett, an Allied outpost 10 miles east of Laos in the same area as the embattled fire base O'Reilly, under attack by the North Vietnamese troops for more than a week.

American troops of the 101st Airborne Division Sunday were sent to Barnett to aid South Vietnamese there. Reports from Phnom Penh said Communist troops shelled the provincial capital of Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of the capital, for nearly an hour Sunday night. No damage or casualties were reported.

Taxing Power. Seek To support the schools and they have been derelict."

In 1966, the legislature adopted three revenue options to allow local boards to increase revenue. They are occupational utility and estate taxes. However, of the 193 school districts in Kentucky, only about 18 are imposing any of the three, DeMarcus said.

By centralizing control in Frankfort, perhaps through a "super board," DeMarcus said each school child would have the same money spent on him as every other child. This has been the aim of the minimum foundation program, but it has not quite worked out that way.

"This is the only way we are ever going to straighten out the finances of the schools," he said. "All school teachers salaries should be at the same level of experience and all courses of study should be the same."

The richer and general urban counties pay a higher salary and spend more money than poorer counties by adding local revenue on top of state minimum foundation funds. Virtually all of the urbanized counties have enacted one of the three local tax options.

"This whole concept boils down to the basic fundamental that some of our children are getting an inferior education...and some of them are getting a superior education," DeMarcus said. "We as a Democratic society should not discriminate between our children. We need a civil rights law in education not between the races, but for all children."

He said many fellow lawmakers feel as he does, but they are from the poor counties. "The ones that object are the ones that are from the more affluent counties," he said.

The Interim Committee on Education has been authorized by begin conducting a study of Kentucky's primary and secondary educational needs for the next 10 years.

At a meeting here last week, DeMarcus suggested that his concept be taken into consideration and Rep. Sherman Arnett, D-Clearfield, agreed to discuss it with committee members when they begin to work.

"Every session of the legislature we are just hounded and hounded to death," DeMarcus said. "If we are going to reap the whirlwind, let us have the power to do something about it."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is little basis for expecting new market lows below the late May levels, as many market observers now seem to be doing, says E. F. Hutton. Although certain areas of the market, notably the glamour issues, still are weakness-prone, other groups clearly have halted downturns and, in a few cases, established new uptrends. This is in marked contrast to previous declining phases this year, Hutton adds.

During the past 18 months, the investor who allowed his political judgments to influence his economic interpretations made a very costly mistake, according to Argus Research Corp. Now the "cacophonous" phase of the biennial political campaign is about to descend upon the American people again, the firm says, and investors will have to take care to see that their investment appraisals are not influenced by political propaganda.

In general, most stocks that have risen since the May lows have reached points of resistance and can be expected to retrace part of their declines, says TOP Inc. The firm expects base building to continue for an eventual major advance.
